

Ian - Hustle and Bustle of the Market

Yes, well, obviously Petticoat Lane Market was much different than it is now. I mean, you had the man with the monkey and the organ at the top, the man chucking the china up in the air, and all characters. And variety of merchandise, whereas now it's just, I suppose, going back to what it was originally Petticoat Lane, just clothing really is what it is now, isn't it really?

They used to say that you were you could have your watch stolen at one end in the market and be sold to you at the other end!